Integrity and Ethics in Construction

At Schmeling Construction Co., we are very proud of our reputation for honesty and integrity in our business dealings. This is a characteristic of our company that will not waiver in good or bad economic times.

The following is a quote from Warren Buffet that summarizes our philosophy:

"If your business decision and motives were published on the front page of a large circulation paper the day after you made the decision, and you still feel comfortable, then do it. You see, it is not compliance or being technically right, it is more about perceived fairness and reputation. It is 'character' that takes a lifetime to build, and only a few short minutes to destroy."

At Schmeling Construction Co., we build not only structures, but relationships, character and reputation.
